It has been a while since I sent a newsletter. Let's get caught up on the news. My first radio interview about the book on "Open Minds, Open Hearts" went extremely well. The audio of the show is on the my website in the left sidebar. That hour flew by so quickly. Ever since that radio interview, the ebook sales have been consistently up. I may not be selling hundreds each day, but I am selling ten to twenty everyday from what information I can gather. That is very encouraging. That also means the book has been making it to top seller status in its sub-category where it is listed. Wahoo!

I will have more radio interviews coming up starting in November. I am a little anxious about some of these, since they will be on Conservative Talk radio and I am not a confrontational person. As soon as I know more details, I will send out a notice so you can listen in a provide moral support. Wish me luck, I think I will need it!

First Article

Yes, I published an article on All Voices titled "The 'Citizen's United' of Religious Liberty." It concerns the uproar over birth control insurance coverage. It presents a different view than has been covered in the media, an angle that I feel is critical. Please click here to read the article - and please share widely with friends and family. All Voices gives more attention to articles that are getting attention with views, shares on FaceBook, or tweeted on Twitter. Look for the

"up" arrow in the top right to "upworthy" the article, and the share section at the bottom for posting to FB and Twitter. I would truly appreciate your spreading the word of this article as I feel it is an important message.

I will be writing more articles in the next few weeks too. I will cover a broad spectrum of the headlines we see today and their Religious Right aspects. I will share them with the occasional newsletter notice.
